

DISCLAIMER: Hmong Trend Stories is a platform that shares stories submitted by individuals or created for cultural reflection, awareness, and community dialogue. Some stories are based on true experiences, while others may be fictionalized or dramatized to reflect common themes in Hmong life.

- The views and opinions expressed are those of the storyteller and do not necessarily reflect those of this channel.
- Stories may be edited, shortened, translated, or adapted to fit our storytelling format and audience across different languages.
- Sensitive topics such as trauma, relationships, religion, immigration, and social issues may be included. Viewer discretion is advised.
- Names, locations, and personal details may be changed to protect individuals' privacy.
- We reserve the right to remove or decline content at any time for quality, legal, or policy reasons.

Statement of Intent: Our goal is to respectfully share Hmong stories to promote understanding, preserve cultural identity, and spark meaningful conversation. We strive to honor all voices with care and integrity.

Updated Story Submission Policy

Want to share your story? Please read carefully:

How to Submit

- You can message us through email or social media with a summary of your story.
- We may follow up to gather more details if your story fits our channel themes.

Privacy & Consent

- You may choose to remain anonymous.
- By submitting your story, you give Hmong Trend Stories a non-exclusive, royalty-free license to adapt, narrate, publish, and distribute the story on YouTube and other platforms.
- Once a story is published, it may not be possible to retract or remove it. If you change your mind before it is used, please notify us immediately.

Editing & Adaptation

- Your story may be edited for clarity, length, tone, language, or structure.
- Submissions may also be translated or interpreted into different languages for audience reach.
- Our goal is to preserve your core message while adjusting for platform format and storytelling clarity.

What We Don't Accept

- Hate speech or attacks on any person or group
- Plagiarized, false, or misleading submissions
- Stories submitted on someone else's behalf without clear consent

No Guarantees

- We cannot guarantee all stories will be used.
- It may take time for a submission to be reviewed, adapted, and published.
